There's Life After Volunteer Week! - 2004 Spring Conference - Branson

The annual spring conference was held at Skaggs Community Health Center in Branson on Friday, April 30, 2004. A congratulations to Bruce Hartley, VP & Education and Beverly Taulbee, Professional Development Chair for producing a fine and informative conference.

Speaker, Tracy Barton
Chief Marketing Officer
Skaggs Community Health

Speaker, Larry Dinges
HR Director
Skaggs Community Health

From your President ...

We just held our second Region 1 Roundtable covering Human Resources for the CAVS exam. The topic, as no surprise, brought much conversation... It was difficult to remain on schedule as we each shared our individual procedures and experiences in recruitment, orientation, recognition, retention, evaluation and so on....

Our organization, MADVS, is providing a wonderful opportunity for us not just to gather together and share this information with each other, but to place our state on the map as an organization that recognizes the importance of this certification for our profession as volunteer managers.

We plan to bring the exam to Missouri in early 2005. I hope you will take advantage of this opportunity. It isn't too late, we have plenty of time to study, learn and share together. Contact your region representatives (their names and contact information are right here in the newsletter.) They will be happy to provide you with information on past and future roundtables. Please join us.

There's life after Volunteer Week!

Bruce Hartley, DVS, CoxHealth, Springfield
MADVS Vice President/Education Chair

Spring Education Report

"There's life after Volunteer Week! Hangin' with your DVS pals from Missouri will make you smile..." was the theme for the MADVS Spring 2004 Conference held in Branson, Mo. on April 30. Twenty-one DVS professionals attended the conference. The day started with a welcome from MADVS President, Jeri Grimes who introduced new members in attendance, Jean Cannon, Kathy Hemme, Linda McIntosh, Kay Steward and Pam Stockham. Jeri also updated the group on the two strategies from the Board for 2004- professional education and plans for CAVS exam in Missouri during early 2005 and the new MADVS web site which is being coordinated by board member, Deb Dickinson.

Our morning speaker was Mr. Larry Dinges, HR Director from Skaggs Community Health on the topic of "Planning and Program Development with Mission and Values." The afternoon speaker was Mrs. Tracey Barton, Chief Marketing Officer from Skaggs Community Health on the topic of "Community Collaboration, Advocacy and Public Relations." Both speakers received high marks on conference evaluations and deserve a round of applause for sharing their expertise with us! During lunch, Bev Taulbee, MADVS Professional Development, facilitated a discussion on a variety of topics submitted by attendees earlier in the day.

The conference theme was carried out through artwork on nametags and certificates of attendance with art of a person relaxing in a hammock designed by Stephanie Spradling. Bev Taulbee and Jeri Grimes showed off their creative side by creating bright yellow flowers complete with a smile face "potted in candy" for each table, which were used as door prizes. Each attendee also went home with a variety of logo items including a CoxHealth umbrella.

The spring conference was just a taste of what to expect next fall at our annual state convention, Nov. 3-5 at Tan-Tar-A. We are planning an even bigger and exciting conference that will be a highlight of the year for MADVS membership. Please mark your calendar to attend and don't forget to keep your Wed. night calendar clear to be available for the MADVS Dinner Meeting. This will be the best time to learn about things that you specifically need or want to take back to your hospital. Plus, the dinner company is sure to be wonderful!

Please continue to attend the Region Roundtables and remember the topics at the roundtables will be helpful to everyone, even if you are not interested in the CAVS exam. The topics are relevant to all working DVS professionals and will help us grow. Remember, our profession is what we make it and if we want to be considered skilled business people, we must continue to learn.

Consider this quote from Dale Carnegie, "If you want to be enthusiastic, act enthusiastic."

Post this in a prominent place!
